LATE NEWS BULLETINS

PETROGRAD, June 26.—The ministry of the interior has submitted to the provisional government bill establishing freedom of conscience, in which it is proclaimed that possession of civil and political rights no longer depends on religion.

Another important reform provides for courts of administration for the protection of a citizen against illegalities of officials of the central government or of local self-governing bodies.

The minister of public instruction has submitted a bill proclaiming complete freedom of teaching. Heretofore the ministry determined who could and who could not teach in private families.

PETROGRAD, June 26.—Mile. Kshesinska, the dancer and favorite of the former emperor, has instituted suit against the provisional government for 2,000,000 rubles owing to its failure to eject the followers of Nikolai Lenin, the Radical Socialist League, from her palace, which is carved with the words "Europe" and "Asia," 400 are reported dead from excesses following brandy looting.

It took Elwood V. Matlack many years, two marriages, and a trip around the world before he found in a Chicago drug store the object of his quest, his reincarnated soulmate.

Elwood H. Swift, a Chicagoan, has been reported dead in Russia.

At Tomsk, a city of 122,000 population, the headquarters of the gold mining district and seat of the only Siberian university, mineral works were plundered and banks looted.

Twenty-three hundred prisoners were freed by the people and joined in the looting. Twenty were killed when the military tried to arrest the looters.

At Taganrog, the beautiful Asov port of 75,000 inhabitants, where the dramatist Chekhov lived and Alexander I. died, plundering is progressing, but the cities decline to leave.

RAZORS PICK CONFEEREES.

The first step taken by the coal men to cooperate with the government was the appointment of special committees of seven producers from each coal mining state, whose duty it shall be to discuss increased production and reduction of prices with the defense council's coal committee.

The action of the coal barons followed an all day conference with defense council's coal committee. They were frankly warned by Secretary of the Interior Lane, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and J. Franklin Fort of the federal trade commission that unless they themselves established a fair price their output would be taken over by the government.

The committee for Illinois consists of W. B. Buchanan, H. H. Taylor, H. C. Adams, G. B. Harrington, and Dr. F. B. Russell of Chicago, T. T. Brewster of St. Louis, and W. J. Spencer of Kinston.

"Limiting government commanding of mines, factories, and other plants to production necessary for military purposes or 'public uses of the common defense.'

Limiting federal licensing to products and agencies of interstate and foreign commerce.

Limiting the power of the government to commandeer foods, fuels, and fuels to supplies for the army, navy, or other military purposes, "or public uses of the common defense," but authorizing their purchase for and sale to civilians by the government at reasonable prices to be fixed.

Extending the government's power to maintain minimum guaranteed prices to producers to the storage or sale and purchase of foods and fuels for resale at prices necessary to maintain guarantees.

Modifies "Blanket" Powers. Modification of the "blanket" powers proposed by an amendment insuring that the government control shall not extend to individual rationing or other regulation of individual consumption.

Addition of a new provision specifically reserving rights of farmers, stock raisers, gardeners, and other agricultural associations from the central legislation, so far as it affects their production and storage of foodstuffs proposed by them.

Addition of a new section providing that persons serving the government voluntarily, such as the national council of defense, who are manufacturers or producers, shall not, while so engaged, sell to the government any of their own products.

This would affect many of the men serving on the committee of the defense council's advisory committee.

U. S. Faces Huge Task.

Debate on the food control bill was resumed in the senate with a speech by Senator Thomas, Democrat, in favor of the measure.

"Our task is the mightiest of all the allies," he said in reviewing the work before the United States, "and I sometimes wonder if we fully understand the extent of the work ahead of us and the sacrifice which our people will be called on to make."

Pledged Russia to War.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—Ambassador Root, in an interview with a press mission gave a solemn pledge before the United States senate today that the Russian people and army, "convinced that a separate peace would mean the triumph of German autocracy," are prepared to fight on beside America until the world has been made safe for democracy.

"Men who speculate to force exorbitant prices are more deadly enemies to the American republic than Germany. There is an aristocracy of middlemen, speculators, commission men, jobbers, and extortionists who exercise more power over the communities than the kaiser does over Berlin."

Democrats' Pockets Picked.

"I would rather be a professed disloyalist than a food speculator," Senator Thomas continued. "How can a man with a family on $1,200 a year be expected to love a country that permits him to be robbed of half by extortions prices? How can he rise when the Star Spangled Banner is played and be enthusiastic?"

"This robbery is going on all over the country. It dries up the springs of patriotism. And unless we arouse a national spirit of devotion to the country and our ships, our food will be organized in violation."

"This necessary national spirit, I am sorry to say, is sadly lacking, taking the country as a whole. We have been piling wealth upon wealth while Germany has been preparing to conquer the world and preaching devotion to her people to a principle."

Germany Will Be Beaten."

Senator Knox said, "undoubtedly as to the necessity of such legislation, he would not demand that it fully satisfy a hypercritical examination of its details. He spoke with satisfaction of the enactment of the embargo law."

"The fear of a merged moral ostracism and the fear of economic boycott are factors in awakening Germany from the villainous hypnosis of Prussianism," he said. "Germany will be beaten."

Of the nations still remaining mute, the Pennsylvania senator declared, "those who are not with us are against us."

"In such a struggle," he said, "economic and political and moral pressure upon neutrals is not to be overlooked as a weapon."

"We are committed by necessity and by laws already enacted to the principle of extreme concentration and centralization of authority for the conduct of the war."

New National Guard Units Get Federal Recognition

Washington, D. C., June 26.—(Special.)—The secretary of war, announced to the Senate that federal recognition had been extended to all new national guard units in existence June 25, but not as yet inspected and accepted for the government.

NEW REPUBLIC WINS SUPPORT OF COSSACKS

Pledge Full Strength to Help Suppress Counter Revolt.

PETROGRAD, June 26.—The Cossacks congress has passed a resolution expressing full confidence in the provisional government. The resolution assures the government that the Cossacks throughout Russia will strongly support its efforts to suppress anarchy and attemt to a counter revolution.

Root Mission Encouraged.

With the Root Mission EN ROUTE FROM MOSCOW TO PETROGRAD, June 24.—(Delayed.)—The Root mission left Moscow for Petrograd tonight.

After conferences with leaders of industrial and political life in Moscow, Mr. Root and his associates are disposed to view the Russian situation with greater optimism.

The workingmen, soldiers and socialist elements in Moscow, with the exception of the Maximalists, are showing a stronger inclination to give full support to the provisional government.

"I have derived much more encouragement from my observations of conditions in Moscow than I expected," Mr. Root said. "It seems clear that the men with whom I have talked and the ones whom I have seen are patriots who are entirely devoted to the task of bringing the country through its present difficulty. I may say that I think after visiting Moscow that there is a fair chance of their succeeding."

Again he employed his favorite weapon—candor uttered with fervor—and he triumphed.

Appears as Formidable Rebel.

Coming before the congress, as he said, not as a cabinet minister but as an old revolutionist who had suffered for the faith, he demanded support for orderly policies, saying:

"Avoid chaos, for from it can come only a dictator. But I am not he, though many wish to make me such."

He defended his repressive policies which are directed against the movement for autonomy in Finland and the Ukraine, on the ground that this was a question which the provisional government had no right to settle and which must be decided in the impending constitutional assembly.

Fight Only with Truth.

He went on to declare that he was not entitled to discussion, saying, "I always have been in the right of free speech," while a member of the radical Bolshevik group shouted ironically,

"Thank you, very much."

M. Kerensky caught up those words and said, "I am not saying that to get your thanks, but to get you into the habit of fighting honest men only with the truth."

Again the jeering voice interrupted

Wilson Greets Mission.

Many of the rumors of internal dissension in Russia, Mr. Balkhmeteff said, grew out of misunderstanding of the general's position in the government and of the government's desire to transform it to democratic standards. He pleaded for patience and confidence that these changes, although they might take time, would be worked out successfully in the end.

The ambassador and other members of the Russian mission were given a reception by Secretary Lansing tonight. President Wilson was among the guests.

LOANS TO ALLIES PASS A BILLION; HALF TO BRITISH

Washington, D. C., June 26.—American loans to the allies passed the billion dollar mark today when the treasury placed $15,000,000 to the credit of Great Britain and $10,000,000 to France's account. Credits to all the allies to meet their expenditures in this country now total $1,008,000,000, of which Great Britain has received $550,000,000 and France $210,000,000.

Woolley, Head of Liberty Loan Publicity, Resigns

Washington, D. C., June 26.—Robert W. Woolley, director of publicity for the Liberty loan, resigned today. Treasury officials said the work of the publicity bureau was over for the present.

LENS TOTTERS;
GERMAN GRIP
SLOWLY SLIPS

British Battle Floods as They Weave a Web
About Mine City.

(By Associated Press.)
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 24.—Following his daring, the German commander of fighting men here means that a large sector of the front is to be abandoned. So, inside a small salient, the Germans are hanging on, apparently determined to stand out the last hope goes.

The Canadians took La Coulotte this morning at 7 o'clock, their patrols pushing on eastward toward Avion, while other British troops advanced down the steep slope of Hill 65.

Flood Vicinity of Lens.
The Germans have extended the floods with water from the Aisne, which will cover the plain about Avion, just beyond La Coulotte, and Lens is well covered. Buildings on the western fringe of Lens have been razed by order of the German command, so that the British guns may have a clean sweep at them as they approach.

Lens itself is a mass of ruins. The walls of buildings still stand, but the city is roofless, making airplane photographs resemble a bird's eye view of pennell.

What rows of houses have been leveled off that the field guns may obtain a clear range. The entire city has been converted into a German fortress, in which each ruined house is a machine on emplacement and every cellar and cellar a refuge.

German Losses Heavy.
For weeks the British refrained from assailing Lens, but the Germans, taking advantage of the sentiment held by the English, brought their guns into the open, raised the houses about the gun pits and then blazed away safely.

Recently, however, the British guns have turned their fire on the gun positions hidden in the mining capital.

The German losses in the Lens salient are believed to be heavy and new drafts of men are constantly demanded, it is said.

Prisoners say they had been promised peace definitely by September.

CHICAGO TO LOSE
AVIATION CAMP
NOW AT ASHBURN

Greed of land owners, it is said, has dropped the United States government to abandon the aviation training camp at Ashburn in favor of Chicago.

The Chicago Association of Commerce and the Aero Club of Illinois have worked hard to obtain the aviation camp in Chicago. H. F. Miller of the former organization is in Washington, where he has been trying to persuade government officials to leave the camp here. He believed Chicago had the best chance.

The aviation camp to take the place of that at Ashburn field is to be established at Rantoul, where land has been bought and cleared and quarters for 500 men have been constructed. The students who have been in training at Ashburn will be transferred to Rantoul.

"The government had decided to increase the size of the Chicago camp," said
R. B. Beach of the Association of Commerce. "To do this we have to give up a square mile of land with the option of purchase. But it has met with difficulty from the land owners. Some of them of the government feels, have tried to make capital out of the situation."

Capt. Morrow, in charge of the local camp, had been given authority to close the deal for the land, but, it is said, was unable to accomplish this. He believed that it may still be possible for Chicago to secure a second aviation camp if the land owners can get together and agree on a reasonable price.

SAVE COUPONS!
RAILROADS MAY HAVE TO DIG UP

Springfield, Ill., June 26.—[Special.]— Attorney General Palmer said the railroads have reached an agreement which preserves the rights of all concerned in the pending passenger rate controversy.

Under this agreement all purchases of railroad tickets between now and the day of the decision of the United States Supreme court as to the constitutionality of the Illinois 2 cent fare law will remain at 2 cents. These coupons will be redeemable in cash for the difference between 2 cents and 2.4 cents in case the controversy of the state of Illinois is suspended.

The first court that will be able to pass upon the merits of the controversy is the United States Supreme court, whose decision is expected in September. Mr.
Brundage said. That decision will affect or deny the right of the state of Illinois to combat the order of the investigating commission that passenger rates must be advanced to 2.4
cents per mile.

Wilson Orders Steel and

Washington, D. C., June 26.—President Wilson has directed the federal trade commission to make an investigation into production costs of steel and lumber,
the two principal materials that will be required for the greatest merchant fleet to be built for the government. It is assumed that prices fixed by the commission as fair will govern in contracts for ships as well as for other government work requiring use of these materials.

OLYMPIA GOES
AGROUND IN FOG
AT BLOCK ISLANDOne Life Lost When Old Flagship of Dewey Strikes.

Block Island, R. I., June 26.—The United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila, ran aground in the fog off Block Island early today. The cruiser was reported in bad condition, with considerable water in hold.

Chief Machinist's Mate William M.
Babb lost his life when he was struck on the head by a falling hatch. Another fatality was reported.

Crew Ordered Off Ship.

The crew abandoned the ship on orders and were taken to the naval station at Newport. Other warships were standing by.

The Olympia was recently assigned as the flagship of the coast patrol fleet of the second naval district. Immediately after it flashed out word of the mishap, members of the patrol force rushed to its aid.

Chief Machinist's Mate William M.
Babb lost his life when he was struck
on the head by a falling hatch.

Attempts by southern Democrats and others to hold down Madden when they tried to obtain unanimous consent to rush the bill through with little or no
discussion, Representative Madden announced he would exercise every right
which he was entitled as a congressman to defeat the items in the bill which
are "pork."

Those in charge of the bill took up most of the afternoon attempting to explain the bill and then when they attempted to obtain unanimous consent to
rush the bill through with little or no
discussion, Representative Madden announced he would exercise every right
which he was entitled as a congressman to defeat the items in the bill which
are "pork."

Among the speakers were Catharine Waugh McCulloch, Irwin St. John
Tucker, Ald. Kennedy, Arnold Schumann, and Elizabeth Freeman, Ald.

Kennedy presented his "most eloquent" speech.

"It is declared by officers of the navy," says the Journal, "that if this is so these U-boats have either been disabled or destroyed or followed by one or more mercantile submarines, which have carried extra supplies of coal and oil."

"Such a convoy is said to be absolutely necessary in order to make the trip across the Atlantic for German submarines worth while."

"With the greater risk from open fighting, now that mercantile vessels are armed, the submarines are being compelled to depend more and more on torpedoes alone, and it is pointed out that unless these U-boats which are said to have reached Atlantic waters of the United States have a sufficient number of torpedoes to accomplish their stock of torpedoes
their presence here, except in great numbers,
would be productive of very little military advantage."

It was tentatively decided at a subsequent conference that George E. Haskell of Chicago, president of the Beetles and Fox River Valley Creamery company, be selected to give his time to the government.

FRENCH FRONT

BRITISH.
LONDON, June 26.—Further information regarding the operations carried out by us last night northeast of Fontaine-Les-Croisilles shows that all our objectives were gained with little loss. Twenty-seven prisoners were taken. Two hostile counter attacks delivered with considerable strength were successfully driven off. During the day our progress south of Lens continued. Our troops extended their gains. Enemy positions astride the Souchez river on a front of two miles to a depth of one thousand yards passed into our possession. We have occupied the village of Coulolette.

As a result of a raid attempted by the enemy last night west of La Bassée twelve German prisoners were left in our hands.

AVIATION.

In the air fighting yesterday two German airplanes were brought down; three other hostile machines were driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

DAY STATEMENT.

There was a successful operation last night northwest of Fontaine-Les-Croisilles, resulting in the capture of a number of German prisoners. A hostile raiding party was repulsed in the night west of La Bassée.

AVIATION.

In the course of a patrol on Monday three hostile airplanes were shot down and engaged ten enemy machines in the vicinity of Roulers. They fought for sixteen minutes and brought down one enemy in flames. It is believed two others were driven down out of control, but clouds interrupted the view. Our machines returned safely.

RED CROSS WILL LOOK AFTER U. S.
FIGHTERS FIRST

$114,000,000 in Fund;
Take Over Work of Relief in France.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—The nation's contributions to the Red Cross in response to the call for a $100,000,000
war fund were estimated at $114,000,000 by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Red Cross war council, tonight.

"This figure assumes," Mr. Davison said, "that stockholders in companies which have declared special dividends amounting to some $20,000,000 will turn their dividends over to the Red Cross."

The policy of the Red Cross in expend-ing that big sum, Mr. Davison declared in a statement, "is to keep the nation's confidence, will be to 'conduct all our work with the utmost publicity and to give the public as completely as possible
into our confidence.'

Primarily the fund will be devoted to the needs of American soldiers and sailors, and secondarily to relief work among the allies.

Shows Nation Favors War.

"Local chapters of the Red Cross are entitled to retain for their own work 25 per cent of the total amount collected," Mr. Davison's statement said, "but it is evident that the national Red Cross will have a generous fund with which to begin its tremendous tasks."

"Some of the plans which are being developed and which we hope promptly to carry into execution are the following:

"First and foremost, we shall provide,
as we may be called upon by the army and navy, for the care and safety of our soldiers and sailors, wherever they may be."

We shall provide funds whereby the American Red Cross commission may take over the administration of American war work in France. The Red Cross has appropriated, at Maj. Grayson H. P.
Murphy's cabled request, $1,000,000 to take care of immediate needs.

"We have cabled each of the allied governments seeking authority to install an American Red Cross dispensary in each of their important seaport cities—a measure of relief urgently needed.

Send Aid to Russia.

"We shall send commissions, equipped with supplies, to extend immediate relief to the people of Russia and Roumania."

($100,000,000 originally sought was accomplished largely in the final roundup yesterday when nearly $20,000,000 in new subscriptions was obtained. More than 1,000 of the larger cities raised more than their allocations.)

RED CROSS BARS
GERMAN WOMEN

Washington, D. C., June 26.—[Special.]
—Because their presence would embarrass the Red Cross unless they are American or German participants, will be barred from Red Cross service
under an order issued today by Col.
Jefferson R. Keen, United States medical corps, to directors of Red Cross hospitals throughout the country.

Col. Keen makes it plain that any woman of German, Austrian, Bulgarian, or Turkish birth are loyal to the United States, but they have been regarded as a suspicion by the British army and it is decided that the British and French consuls in the United States have been forbidden by their government to vie their passports if presented.

SUPREME COURT
ASKED TO PASS
ON SUNDAY LID

Henry W. Boerner, saloonkeeper at 102 East Austin avenue, is still after Mayor Thompson for closing saloons on Sunday.

His latest effort reached the United States Supreme court yesterday in the form of a petition for certiorari, together with a brief and abstracts, to review
the decision of the Supreme court of Illinois, which affirmed the decision of the mayor court of Cook county. The court refused to hear Boerner's a temporary junction to restrain the mayor from closing his saloon on the Sabbath.

The saloonkeeper informs the nation's highest court that he believes the ordinance vesting the mayor with the power to revoke his license without a hearing and to retain the unearned portion of the license fee contravenes his rights
as a citizen under the fourteenth amendment.

REPORT TOTAL
OF $5,000,630
FOR RED CROSS

Workers Give Final Data,
but County Towns May Swell the Figure.

The final returns in the big Red Cross fund drive show that Chicago subscribed $5,000,630 or nearly $3,000,000 less than the $8,000,000 allotted to it.
At the meeting at Hotel La Salle yesterday noon, the reports of the senior and auxiliary teams totaled $4,966,620, or $33,380 less than $5,000,000. Determined to turn in at least $5,000,000, James Simpson and Robert J. Thorne underwrote $34,000, and will keep working until they raise that sum. This brought the grand total up to $5,000,630.
Later in the afternoon E. H. Williams, chairman of the auxiliary committee,
turned in an additional $1,922, giving the underwriters that much less to raise.

Satisfied with Showings.

The executive committee, composed of Frank O. Wetmore, Stanley Field, H. M.
Bylesby, Robert J. Thorne, and William Wrigley Jr., expressed themselves as satisfied with the showings made by Chicago. All felt that $8,000,000 was too much for Chicago to raise, giving it as their opinion that $5,000,000 would have been a fairer allotment.

“What we did get,” said Mr. Wetmore, “is a good deal and I am proud to say that not a single future paying dividend declared for the Red Cross is included in our figures. All that will be additions.”

“We haven't begun to hear from the outlying towns in Lake, Cook, and Du Page counties,” said Stanley Field. “The mails will continue to pour money in for a week. I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see another quarter of a million roll in.”

Last Day's Total.

The last day's total was $230,247. The auxiliary teams reported $51,142 for the day, while the women's teams, stationed in stores, hotels, restaurants, and other buildings, reported $12,518.39 for the day. Mrs. Frank O. Wetmore and Mrs. Charles Knickerbocker Wood were high with $3,484. The Ladies' Aid society of Evanston was second with $2,146.51.

Of the senior teams, that led by James B. Forgan was high with a grand total of $422,109. John J. Mitchell's team jumped to second place with $284,635, while George M. Reynolds' team was third with $276,400.

Of the auxiliary teams that of F. C.
Catherin took first place with a grand total of $21,947.

“From the information obtainable, the purpose of Red Cross week has been accomplished,” said Mr. Wetmore, in addition to the final meeting. “That is, the people of the United States have subscribed $8,000,000 to meet the Red Cross. Chicago has responded liberally, and, while we did not reach the figure set, there are reasons therefor, notably the generous response to the Red Cross membership, the Jewish war relief, and the Liberty loan campaign.”

Washington, D. C., June 26.—Special

abroad, Secretary Baker advised the house today. Immediate introduction of a is expected.

COAL BARONS YIELD AS U. S. CRACKS WHIP

Agree to Price Fixing as Lane Warns Property
May Be Seized.

The witness read into the record the names of the members of the coal production committee, which is headed by Francis S. Peabody of Chicago. On the committee are eleven coal operators, five representatives of the labor employed in the coal mines, the secretary of labor, the chief of the bureau of mines, and the chief of the geological survey, a Boston banker, and a representative of an electric light and gas association.

"Do you think that committee could fix the prices of coal with justice to the consumer?" Senator Pomerene asked.

"I do," the witness answered. "The committee is sufficiently well equipped to handle the problem to offset any selfish interest, its members might have in the matter. The committee should be given the power to do the things you want done, under government direction."

MINE SEIZURE THREAT.

Secretary Lane told the operators at the defense council's conference that the sensible and patriotic thing for them to do is to get together and put into the hands of some small group the fixing of a low price on coal and that unless they did this of their own free will the government would take over their output.

"As far as we are concerned, he asked, "It is no time to reap an advantage, even though it comes under the normal conditions of the trade."

The secretary's remarks aroused the operators to enthusiastic applause.

He was followed by former Gov. J. Franklin Fort of New Jersey, of the federal trade commission, who told the operators that the government would guarantee them immunity and that if any of them were punished for combining to fix a price, he offered himself as a sacrifice to take their places in jail. He urged them to meet and set a price at the mine, f. o. b.

After the cabinet officers and government officials had aroused the patriotic spirit of the operators, Mr. Peabody, chairman of the coal production committee, who had called the meeting, addressed them, urging them to give their support to his committee and the government.

Speech Lane's Masterpiece.

Secretary Lane's speech was called by some of his associates his masterpiece.

"It is because the success of our national venture rests upon you that you are here today," he said. "You are called into this game just as definitely as the Red Cross nurses or the soldiers in the trenches or Gen. Pershing in France or the president in the White House."

This war is your game and I am not going to mince words about it at all. It is being put up to you and as a challenge. The burden—the present and immediate burden, because you control the fundamental in industry—that burden rests upon your shoulders, and the question is how much vision have you? Are you small or are you big? Are you petty politicians of the country or are you statesmen in a great time?

"Now this is the real challenge in the present situation because the country will not stand anything but a large policy from large men."

Life of Nation at Stake.

"The law of supply and demand which regulates prices normally is set aside in this time because the life of the nation is at stake."

"There are things greater than making money today, and if that thought gets into your mind, then it will go into the soul of the people of the United States we can then do a short work of this. It is on the other side; and it is because we want a short war, that we want to have the people of the United States mobilize behind this administration, not because it is our administration, but because it is your administration."

"There is a business man in America who will say to me, 'You send your boy to France while I stay here and coin his blood into dollars?'

"I know that isn't the spirit of the American business man. I have stood here for two months and seen that man here, and have been overwhelmed with telegrams from the greatest men in the country, all saying, 'Let me help. Let me come in. I am too old to come down here and give the remainder of my life to helping.' That's the spirit that will win this war."

Must Have Cheaper Coal.

Secretary Lane pointed out that the people of the country are not satisfied with the coal situation.

"We must have cheaper coal," he said. "You must meet the situation and meet all statesmen. If the situation rests on the railroads in delivering cars then it must rest upon them. If it rests upon the workers then the workers should know that the responsibility rests upon them and they should be challenged by it."

"I am not a derelict, but have no confidence whatever in the idea that the men who work in the mines are not as patriotic as the rest of us. If you put the challenge up to them they will take that challenge. The whole thing has to be done by faith. You cannot win this war except by faith—faith in the government."

He went on, while his audience listened without applause:

"You aren't living for today. You aren't living for yourselves. You are living for the people of the United States. You have a duty to them. And you are living for the people of the world, and you have a duty to them."

What right have you to take advantage of the demand for coal? Where in the moral sense of the man who would make such a demand at such a time?

Stern Words, Stern Facts.

Now, those are stern words, but they are stern facts. We are up against a situation that is real. We have to have iron to melt the iron. And you people have to furnish coal."

Throughout Secretary Lane's speech there had been no audience. When he had finished the coal operators rose, gave three cheers and kept the audience echoing until the speaker had gone.

EACH MARRIED, SOULMATES SEEK REINCARNATION

Chicagoan Lets Wife Go Because He Loves Her.

What happened I said to Mrs. Hamsley? Are you serious about this? She replied she was. Then I turned to my husband and said: "Daddy, what have you got to say?"

ALL FOR HUMANITY.

"Mr. Matlock bowed and said: 'Mrs. Hamsley has expressed my sentiments exactly. We intend to devote the rest of our lives to the cause of humanity.' Mrs. Matlock said that the following day she called at Mrs. Hamsley's room, and when she knocked on the door her husband answered it. At that interview Mr. Hamsley said [according to Mrs. Matlock]:

"I know you are a broad minded and generous hearted woman. Mrs. Matlock, and I am sure will appreciate this situation. I love Mr. Matlock. Mine is a great love for your husband; the love of my life. He is my soul mate. I hope you will be big enough to give him up to me."

Most Accommodating.

Ever since the soulmates met, Hamsley has taken his cold dinners and his bakery pie without a murmur, as he had taken everything else from Estelle during the years of their married life. Then came the fateful interview in which the soulmates asked for freedom.

Hamsley told about it last night. He appeared tired and nervous. Mrs. Hamsley has been gone for a week.

"They came to me and told me," he said. "Our whole married life had been happy. There was never a quarrel, never a single cross word. I love her right now, and I admire and respect Mr. Matlock. He seemed to be a gentleman of the finest kind, intelligent, good looking, and interested in the things my wife was interested in."

"I love my wife too much to stand in the way of her happiness and I shall take any steps necessary which I can take as a gentleman to make her free to marry Mr. Matlock. Her opportunities are much greater with him than they could ever be with me. A husband should not step in between his wife and the man she loves."

Hasn't Written to Him.

"My wife has not written to me since she went to St. Louis. It may not be right for me to talk now, because I would do nothing to interfere with their plans. I am waiting to hear from them when they want to file a suit for divorce. I shall do that."

As he talked Hamsley picked up a book that lay on a table. It was an autographed copy of "The Great Psychological Crime," by Florence Huntley, who is a close friend of Mrs. Hamsley. "She had left it to a friend," he said, "and it was returned today."

Hamsley put the book tenderly back into the bookcase.

Not Broken Hearted.

"I am not brokenhearted," he went on. "When I have done something that has helped my wife to have the man she loves, I feel that I have done my duty to help her have the happiness she desires. I cannot feel broken hearted. I intend to go right on working for a higher physical, mental, and financial success."

Hamsley is a telegraph operator. He has taken an active interest in the psychological studies of his wife, and through her has come to have the same beliefs in reincarnation and soul relationships. No other woman has come into his life, he said.

Matlock is 58 years old. His soulmate is 39. The Matlocks have one child, a boy of 18 years. Mrs. Matlock left her home to marry 12 years ago. If Matlock is successful in marrying Mrs. Hamsley she will be his third wife. The Matlocks had no children. One was born but died.

Before she left the Park Avenue flat she told a neighbor she was leaving the "best man on earth." It was her desire, she said, to go with the other man.

Romance of the Mind.

Mr. Taylor, at the Warner hotel, said

he was unwittingly the cause of bringing the soulmates together.

"It was a romance of the mind," he said. "I am deeply grateful if I have been the means of introducing real soulmates. I am sorry, however, for Mr. Hamsley, whom I have known for many years, and for Mrs. Matlock, a cultured, refined woman, whom I know well, also."

"Mrs. Hamsley's opinions and those of Mr. Matlock were absolutely harmonious, and the two individuals of both found mutual attraction. You will admit, perhaps, that there are degrees of compatibility. It must follow, then, that an intelligent person can find somewhere, if he or she seeks long enough, another person so intelligent that the two are what I call 100 per cent agreeable. It was so with Mrs. Hamsley and Mr. Matlock.

"Both believed that when a person dies the spirit demands of nature a human body to control, so that it may return to itself. However, death before natural allows this demand to be denied, of course, upon chance. It was in the discussion of these questions that Mrs. Hamsley and Mr. Matlock discovered their compatibility."

CREATURES OF THE SOUL

They Were Married Seventeen Years; and Now That She's Found Her Soulmate, Her Husband Is Ready to Resign.

FORMER WIFE OF DR. YOUNG TO REOPEN SUIT

Mrs. Sophia Young, former wife of Dr. Carl O. Young, owner of the Washington Park hospital, has won the right to reopen her divorce case against the doctor. This gives her the right to introduce new evidence in support of her contention that the property rights of herself and her former husband should be adjusted. Judge C. C. Edwards in the Circuit court at Waukegan holds that the alimony of $100 per month and the custody of the children was but a temporary arrangement.

Mrs. Young contends the property involved amounts to about $200,000 and that it was accumulated through the combined efforts of her husband and herself. She asks for a lump sum in settlement of alimony. She points out that the fact that Dr. Young took his two sons on a trip to Sweden with his several months ago is in violation of the decree that they were not to be taken out of the jurisdiction of the court.

Mrs. Young is represented by Attorneys Molthrop and Johnson of Chicago and Dr. Young is represented by the law firm of Anderson, Anderson & Anderson. Attorney William Strong of Waukegan is associate counsel. The Attorney Anderson who appeared in the case yesterday is the former Swedish consul to Chicago.

F.S. CHASE, FIGURE IN FAMOUS TRIAL, DIES IN INDIANA

Lafayette, Ind., June 26—(Special)—Fred S. Chase, father of Moses Fowler Chase, the demented millionaire over whose custody and estate a bitter legal war was waged here fourteen years ago, died today in a sanitarium in Indianapolis. His death throws the wealth of the hopelessly insane son back into the Fowler family of this city.

Moses Fowler Chase is in a sanitarium at Wauwatosa, Wis.

His abduction by an aunt, his discovery by the youth in a madhouse in Indiana, his return to this country and the battle for his possession, which terminated in a victory for the father, formed the features of the most sensational litigation in the history of Indiana courts.

Typist Takes Poison Over a Love Affair

Emily Weber of 1510 North Springfield avenue, a stenographer employed in the office of Gerald S. Carrick in the Peoples Gas building, is ill in St. Luke's hospital suffering from poison which she took June 20.

Sgt. John Adams heard of the case while on duty in the hospital.

"I'm tired of living and it's over a love affair," were the only reasons she would give for her action.

Stenographers gone hours ago—but you can dictate to THE DICTAPHONE

REGISTERED

If only for those occasions when it is necessary for you, as a responsible executive, to work at night, or at other hours when your office force is absent—The Dictaphone proves indispensable.

Sometimes you accomplish your best creative work after hours, when the rank and file of the force has gone—minutes free from interruption.

At such times you would give much for a medium at once accurate, speedy, instantly ready—a system that would enable you to "let go," certain that what you say is being recorded as virile, forceful and full of inspiration as when it took shape in your mind.

You can't write your thoughts fast enough yourself—you can't dictate to a stenographer; you have sent her home hours ago.

But you can dictate to The Dictaphone—silent and waiting and instantly available; with no thought of "office hours." The Dictaphone will take all you have to say—whether at 11 A. M. or 11 P. M.—and it will take it accurately, whether a hundred words or ten thousand. And the dictation will be all ready for the typist in the morning—no "cold notes," no "hard" dictation to decipher.

"After hours" dictation is but one aspect of this modern correspondence system. The Dictaphone experts on Office Organization will gladly tell you the rest.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."

—Stephen Decatur.

THE BONE DRY BILL.

The effort to pass bone dry legislation may perhaps be taken as typical of the war attitude that seems to pervade official Washington. This attitude is much less concerned with our main business—getting men into the field—than with reforming our moral habits. The reformers are using the war as an excuse to put their ideas into operation, and their lobby is working overtime to devise restraints for erring human beings.

To make people good by prohibitory laws is always a sorry business. Blue laws are usually bad because they make everybody blue. We are likely to be blue enough before the war is over without being forced into a strait laced regimen in the bargain.

We believe that war conditions make it necessary to impose certain liquor regulations. We think stricter regulation would be advisable even in times of peace. The sale of whisky and distilled spirits should be drastically limited, if not prohibited. Probably some restrictions should be placed on the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines. But we believe it is a mistake to issue an abrupt flat: "There shall be no more cakes and ale."

If congress passes the law our latitudinarians will find some means of avoiding it; the rich will stock up in advance and the poor will resort to the rotten product of private stills. National prohibition means the elimination of beer and light wines and the consumption of distilled liquors. Distilled liquors are the real foe of mankind. Whisky is the best argument for prohibition. But prohibition is likely to promote the use of whisky.

War prohibition in Europe has not extended to drinks of small alcoholic content. In spite of the food shortage the Germans still manufacture beer. If congress can devise means of preventing the sale and use of distilled spirits without interfering with beer and light wines, it will do the country a real service. We shall have made a step forward in solving the liquor problem.

There is a falacy among those of reforming mind that war is a proper time for all sorts of radical reforms. The opposite is true. Radical measures are necessary in many directions, but they should not be resorted to unless they are necessary. War calls for a maximum of effort, and for that purpose violent changes in condition should be kept at a minimum. The benefits to be expected from a check upon the abuse of alcohol ought not to be counteracted by the ill effects certain to flow from violent readjustments, economic and social. The country is undergoing a severe experience, and must brace itself for more. Congress should see that caution and moderation govern whatever measures it feels must be taken to carry out our great task.

EATING CORN.

It takes a war to make us discover how illogical our normal rations are. Consider corn. We speak of casting pearls before swine, yet that is precisely what we do when we feed corn to pigs.

Corn is distinctively American, and corn dishes are distinctively American, but the old world tradition is so strong that we seem to prefer wheat. There is no reason why this should be so. Back in the days of real sport there was no greater delicacy than corn muffins, corn fritters, or Johnny cake. But the war is making us appreciate they are just as palatable as ever. The nutritive value of corn is almost the equivalent of that of wheat; corn fed products have a well deserved reputation.

President Griffin of the board of trade adds the final argument for a more general use of corn. He says the United States will raise 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn this year, as compared with 650,000,000 bushels of wheat. Our allies want a large share of the wheat; but we need not worry about our food supply as long as we've got corn. Let's eat it ourselves instead of feeding it to pigs or cattle.

BELGIUM—ALIVE AND KICKING.

The most Belgian thing left in captive Belgium is not the Gothic spire at Antwerp or the flaming vehemence of Mörder. It is a saucy little newspaper called La Libre Belgique, and devoted to anti-Belgian hilarities of the gayest inspiration.

For two years the Germans in Belgium have camped on its trail, yet out it comes, unscared, always with a free copy for Gen. von Bissing, always an announcement of its telegraphic address ("German Military Bureau, Brussels!"), and always its editorial address, "a cellar on wheels." Repeatedly its editor has been exposed in letters to the police. Whenever that happens they rush to the spot designated, and usually catch a German army officer or one of their own number. Still, La Libre Belgique owns up to certain disadvantages attending a life of pleasure. Its circulation it describes as "regularly irregular" and its price as "elastic, ranging from nothing at all to ad infinitum. Patrons will please not exceed this limit."

THE TRIBUNE'S COMPLIMENTS TO La Libre Belgique. Strength to its kick!

SOCIALISM AND TYRANNY.

The tyranny of the Socialist party is like the tyranny of an autocracy. Individual action and individual thought must be subordinated to the will of the party. It is government by this party with these restrictions that the Socialists want to impose on the United States.

If any one doubts the repression involved in the Socialist program he need only be referred to the recent expulsion from the party of leading Socialists because they opposed the Socialist pro-German propaganda. The Socialists claim the widest latitude of speech, yet they would impose the severest restrictions on those who disagree with them.

The pro-German attitude of the Socialists may perhaps be explained by the natural affinity of tyranny for tyranny. It is autocratic power the Socialists want and Germany is the best example of the possibilities of autocratic power. This explanation may be far fetched; there is, of course, an uglier and less involved explanation. But at least the war has done us the service of showing up the Socialist party in a clearer light than ever before.

THE MATTER WITH GERMANY.

The longer Americans study the German government system the greater becomes their difficulty in understanding how Germans can tolerate it, and the question is far from satisfactorily answered by recalling that Germans are without the means of amending their constitution. Why, considering the tyrannical nature of absolutism, do they refrain from revolution? The Germans we know in America would attempt just that. They would succeed. There can be no doubt of it. They have shown themselves among the most progressive, the most fearless, the most liberty-loving people ever to seek this country.

But reflect. Our gain was Germany's loss. We got, so to speak, the very top of the German basket.

Ambitious, aggressive, independent, courageously forthputting Germans came here by the million. Though less numerously, the same splendid type migrated to southern Brazil, to Argentina, and to other regions where fortune beckoned and opportunity seemed waiting. Whereas southeastern Europe and Asia Minor sent us their weaklings and are ready to do it again, Germany sent us its best. This, so observers of modern Germany are wont to point out, is one thing that accounts for modern Germany.

It is a case of natural selection the wrong end to the survival of the unfittest. Or, to a perceptible degree, it is that. The less ambitious have stayed at home. The less aggressive have stayed. The less independent and high spirited have stayed. Hence a general docility that amazes Americans who have known and admired Germans in America and are suddenly confronted with Germans in Germany.

German-Americans still love the fatherland. We respect them for loving it. But they do not aspire to return to Germany. They do not regard Germans as superior to German-Americans. If we can fathom their hearts they think of themselves as the pick of their race—which they are. And their exodus from Germany has made possible not only the perpetuation of mediævalism there, but its mobilization against democracy the world over.

THE RED CROSS FUND.

An enormous sum has been pledged in the Red Cross campaign, one of the best organized of its kind in the records of charity. The results show the spirit of the American people, who are always ready to give when the need is clear.

We do not look upon the fact that the sum set as an objective for Chicago was not attained. This community has no need to apologize for a contribution of $5,000,000. It might have been larger if it were not for several considerations. There is, for instance, no clear knowledge of the program of expenditure, and toward the end of the campaign about all that was vouchsafed the public was the announcement that the needs of the allied countries were so great the $100,000,000 would be gone in six months. Mr. Wadsworth's assertion was interpreted as meaning that the fund was to be absorbed by relief work among the allies, and undoubtedly many men and women whose means are not unlimited concluded that our own future conditions called for some consideration and might soon call for contributions.

We are calling out an army of over 1,000,000, with more to follow if the war continues. It is our primary duty that the needy of our people are cared for. We have a duty also to maintain our home charities and social work. This all takes money and lots of it in normal times, and in war time will take more. We hope to help the afflicted in Europe, but not at the expense of our own, for whom we have a more direct responsibility.

The danger of the recent campaign lies in the tendency to press contributors to give disproportionately to their means and to the prior or equal claims of home objects. It is advisable to guard against this in any further campaigns, and meanwhile the responsible heads of the Red Cross should lose no time in making a full statement of their program.

PEACE REIGNS.

The tornado of Righteous Indignation which rose in the city council and threatened to blow the mayor gallant west has subsided as quickly as it rose. It will be difficult for the future historian to say whose roof was blown off. The mayor's famous lid certainly shows no serious damage to the contemporary eye. Meanwhile if peace was wanted under the shadows of a foreign war, it appears to have been accomplished brilliantly. But the council's revolt recalls the ancient epitaph on one who died in infancy. It was so early done for, we wonder what it was begun for.

BATTLE SONG.

(To the air of The Marseillaise.)

A voice is calling, calling overseas:
Come forth and right an ancient wrong.
Overthrow old tyrannies
And swell the notes of Freedom's song.
Strike a blow, for your arm is strong.
The sacred name of Liberty
Must be protected through the years,
The shame wrought by the enemy
Must be cleansed with blood, and with your tears.

America, arise! Your starry banner flies.
Redeem your word with cannon and with sword,
And battle for the Lord!

From east and west we hear the answer come
In the shouts of marching men.

They respond to life and drum,
From every hill and field and glen.

The bugles are calling again:

"Your fathers fought for Liberty.
They died that ye might all be free,
And their true sons are ye.

Come fight for Freedom, Law, and Home."

America arise! Your starry banner flies.
Redeem your word with cannon and with sword,
And battle for the Lord!

COL. HENRY J. REILLY. In the preceding article it was shown that due to the necessity to build up a army while fighting, Great Britain has been able to train a blow corresponding to the total number of men she has had under arms in France since the beginning of the war. In other words, maintaining in the field an army of around 2,000,000, she has had to train an army a great many more men than would have been the case if she had been pitted with an army of 1,000,000 when the war began and merely had to maintain it at that strength.

There will be a barbers' strike beginning next Monday morning. It was announced at the headquarters of the barbers' union. The union heads say that all barbers shop proprietors who have not agreed to the union scale of $17 a week will be affected.

The anti-picketing injunction was obtained by the Chicago Railroads company, 1427 Carroll Avenue, against striking members of the Raincoat Workers' union. The strikers contend their walkout was due to action of the company in breaking a working agreement.

A flag raising company was held in the headquarters of the Chicago Federation of Labor during the day, when the first union made American flag was hung on a wall of the room occupied by President John Fitzpatrick and Secretary Edward N. O'Leary. The flag bears the union label on an outside seam and was made by union printers employed by a Chicago concern.

Russian troops have held part of the Champagne front since 1916 and that a number of Portuguese troops have been sent to France. The total of both these forces, however, are not great enough to materially affect the issue. The point apparently has been reached where, while Great Britain can maintain her army in France at its present strength, she cannot increase it. Therefore, if we do not take steps to promptly put really large forces on the French front what we do send will not increase the total forces available. In other words, our entry will only serve to keep matters as they are, instead of bettering them.

British Line Extended. In December, 1916, and January, 1917, the British took over that part of the French line north of the Somme. It was given out that they intended to take over everything down to Noyon in the Oise river. This, however, was not to be done. A movement was started to prevent this from taking place before this could be done. In following them up the British right or southern flank and the beach left or northern flank joined at south of St. Quentin.

Thus as the war has gone on Great Britain has taken over more and more of the front as her army grew in size. This, of course, has correspondingly shortened the French line. A VETERAN'S OFFER.

Danville, Ill., June 25.—(Editor of The Tribune.)—The experts have failed to agree as to the kind of buildings that will be required to house the men that are to be drafted, let me suggest that the barracks at the National Military home, Danville, Ill., be utilized for this purpose.

The old soldiers "61" would be willing to turn out and occupy the "pup" tents for the summer. The barracks will house 2,500 men comfortably, besides, the recruits would have the benefit of a large hospital capable of holding 200 patients, the large general dining hall seating 1,600 men at two sittings.

The old boys of the civil war are willing to cook their own meals over camp fires as they did when they were called into service. They are willing to forgo their little comforts here if it will benefit the boys who are to make ready for the strenuous war on the other side. We want them to be fit, to get hardened so they may give a good account of themselves and be a credit to our country.

THE DOC HOLDS US UP TO SCORN.

Chicago, June 25.—(Editor of The Tribune.)—Your "slam" against Daniels reveals clearly what your action of a soldier's life should be—a life of prostitution, vice, and drunkenness. No stronger indication of disloyalty to the best interests of the country could be shown than your policy of prostitution and drink. Nothing could operate more strongly against parents giving their sons to war.

If you had a son in army or a daughter in the Red Cross service, likely you would not maintain your present notions of army conduct. I shall do what I can to hold your paper up to the scorn and ridicule of a people of moral sense and a conscience. D. G. H. VANDER.

INCOMPETENT JOSEPHUS.

Adrian, Mich., June 24.—(Editor of The Tribune.)—I note with satisfaction your editorial regarding Secretary Daniels. A do not know if you have appeared an article in The Tribune to the effect that Daniels had let contracts for ships to irresponsible speculators, who were without facilities for filling their contracts.

Now, this is a clear issue. A man who will sign contracts without ascertaining that the contractor is able to carry out the agreement is clearly incompetent. All we need is sufficient publicity as to his action in these ship contract cases to get rid of this incompetent.

BURNHAM VICE
RESORTS AGAIN
OPENED WIDE

NEARLY 1,000 laborers employed in the city water extension department went on strike yesterday, following refusal by the city finance committee to grant demands for a wage increase of from $3 to $3.60 a day. The laborers organized a union several months ago. Commissioner of Public Works Frank E. Bennett made a statement declaring the strike would not imperil the city's water supply.

Members of the street car men's union ratified the new agreement providing for a 3 cent an hour increase by a vote of 5,251 to 2,777, it was announced by the union officials. The "L" operating employees are to vote on the same proposition from 6 o'clock this morning to that hour tomorrow morning. It is believed their vote favoring the proposition will be correspondingly large.

There will be a barbers' strike beginning next Monday morning. It was announced at the headquarters of the barbers' union. The union heads say that all barbers shop proprietors who have not agreed to the union scale of $17 a week will be affected.

GOLFING PRIZE TO LONG LIST OF MRS. LETTS

Champion of West Wins Skokie Event by Steady Game.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Mrs. Fred C. Letts of Indian Hill had a low gross score of 91 in the invitation handicap at the Skokie club yesterday. Previous victories in similar events at Evanston and Indian Hill indicate the western champion is playing finely.

Miss Ernestine Pearce of Skokie was second in the gross column with a card of 99.

Eight on the second hole, followed by nine on the long fifth, and seven at the sixth hole marred her out round. She came home in 48, three strokes more than Mrs. Letts.

Mrs. F. E. Bryant of Glen Oak won the handicap with a card of 104-22-52. Mrs. H. O'Brien of Olympia Fields was second with 107-22-53.

Mixed Foursome Play.

Fourteen pairs competed in the mixed foursome in the afternoon. Mrs. H. L. Pound and N. Landon Hoyt of Skokie scored low gross with a card of 46-44-90. Miss E. Pearce and F. A. Wilmann had 44-52-96. Other low honors were won by Mrs. Gordon Johnson and L. C. Martin, 109-21-85; Miss Margaret Knapp and Tom Noyes of Glen View were second with 103-16-87. Mrs. S. A. Safford and A. Washington had 108-15-88, and Mrs. C. Martyn and Henry Pope 104-15-88.

THREE TEAMS FOR INTERCITY RUN OF MOTOR CARS

War Conditions, Reduce Entries in Event on July 17-19.

BY JOHN DE LONG.

The intercity reliability match, to be held July 17-19, will not have as many contesting teams as had been counted upon. A week or so ago nine teams of ten cars each were on the entry list, withdrawals during the last few days have reduced the probable number of teams by two-thirds.

Detroit, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Toledo, Rochester, and Elmira teams have withdrawn owing to the uncertain conditions brought about by the war. It is hinted that members of these teams, many of whom are connected with the automobile industry, realize that the car factories might be taken over by the government at almost any time, and want to stick close to their jobs.

Thus the intercity match simmers down to thirty cars, representing Chicago, Buffalo, and New York, but a good contest should result. The local team, led by Capt. S. E. Hibben, will drive to Detroit on Saturday, July 14, and then ship its cars to Buffalo, which is to be the hub of the three days' match.

That "War Cause" Coin.

According to a statement made yesterday by President David F. Reid of the Chicago speedway, action regarding the turning over to certain relief and military organizations of a percentage of the profits realized from the local race of June 15 will be taken as soon as members of the board of directors can be brought together.

"We hardly know where we stand," President Reid said. "One thing we are certain of, and that is that we would have a handsome profit from the 'war cause' day." We had seventy-five distributing stations from which tickets to get them all checked up.

"Two of our leading directors are in New York, and as soon as they return to the city, which probably will be the end of the week, we will call a meeting and decide how the money should be apportioned and to what organizations it should go. Personally, I should like to have the Speedway Park association purchase and equip an ambulance and send it to France."

Boy Scouts Aid Good Roads.

A new angle in ways and means of improving the Lincoln highway has been successfully introduced by the Aurora Automobile club through the cooperation of the Boy Scouts. Eleven troops of scouts from Aurora and vicinity recently went out and cleared all the stones from the highway for a distance of thirteen miles along the Fox river. They did the work in three hours and made a record for themselves as human beings in the cause of good roads.

The excellent results accomplished have drawn the praise of travelers over the Aurora section of the highway, and it is felt that the idea should be taken up at many other points along the transcontinental road, not only in Illinois, but on sections all over the country.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS

by RING W. LARDNER

ON THE SANDY SHORES OF MICH.

By the old brick road to Higman,
Slightly northward from St. Joe,
There's a homey place a-waiting.
And it's there I long to go;
Perhaps a mess of fresh-made dough-nuts
Or some other favored dish—
"Come you back, you weary Loop-hound,
To the sandy shores of Mich."

Ride me near the little city
Where our school board's all they'll stand;
Where the mayor is high in favor,
And the council's simply grand;
Where an evening's entertainment
Is two nickels' worth of Gish,
And you go straight home therewith
To the sandy shores of Mich.

On the sandy shores of Mich,
Where there are no lobsters fish,
And no white lights to disturb you
When sweet sleep's your fondest wish.

There is tennis just below you;
There is golf four miles away,
And I'm told the stars don't glisten
At a person's style of play.
O, 'twill be an easy matter
To remain in great condish
If they'll only send some summer
To the sandy shores of Mich.

On the sandy shores of Mich,
Where you're fresher than the fish,
And the G. & M. starts Chiward
Just as seldum as you wish.

Take me near the House of David,
Where you never have to shave,
And a collar doesn't matter
Just so long as you behave;
Where the cost of food is smaller,
Though the food is more katsish.

On the sandy shores of Mich,
O, how sweet to be a fish
And to think, about the weather,
It's exactly as I wish!"

On the sandy shores of Mich,
Hold up shirt and socks
Dish shirt up,
Dish shirt, Dish shirt, Dish shirt simply can't budge.

By Mae Tinne.

SIZZLING WITH the spirit of the times comes "The Man Who Was Afraid."

This is a picture showing some of our own people in times of our own war—the Mexican outbreak—and to me it was extremely real. Not a bit overdrawn did I find the good looking young chap, who, babbled from infancy by one of those weak, foolish mothers, found himself the victim of panic when his country, needing him, called for his services. Not a bit overdrawn was the mother, either. We, you and I, have seen plenty like her, and you know how we have chafed as she enumerated the virtues of "my son," all chafing of her conversation leading to him.

Bryant Washburn in the rôle of the man who was afraid but who in the long run proves himself a hero indeed, conquering fear with dauntless bravery, has not a pleasant part. He is the coward, the slacker, the "war baby" until the last scenes of the picture. Then he comes into his own with honor and glory, which, of course, make up for much of the pictorial humiliation that was his up to that time. Of this difficult rôle, Mr. Washburn makes the best that it seems to me, could be made. Despite him as you must part of the time, you are never without a sneaking liking for him, and when finally your liking is justified you're as pleased as Puck.

Frankie Raymond as the mother was irritatingly vindictive, and Margaret Watts, the girl in the rôle, might easily win the affections of a clean young chap. Ernest Maupin, the colonel, who looks like Admiral Dewey, was far more the military man than most actors are able to make themselves appear on the screen. Splendid, I thought him.

Some stirring scenes on the Mexican border furnish the "pep." "The Man Who Was Afraid" is, I should say, the kind of picture that would be an aid to recruiting.

A newspaper reporter she, engaged and married soon to be, a divorce trial did cover. When it was o'er she said,

"Before I will let marriage be a bore, I'll sacrifice that let me be joyful! Man don't want WIFE—he wants 'TOY'!" And so she gave HIM back. HIS ring. Yes, she did. Clark—anything he wanted, he would see, said she to him, what a GOOD FELLOW she could be! The fellows flock around her door—the women, though did come no more. Men with ideals did pass her by. "What have I done?" she then did cry. "I've been a fool—it's an invention to think that one can buck CONVENTION. I want to marry—yes, I do! O, Billy, O—hoo hoo! Boo hoo!" A family friend brought Bill. Ah, then, Janice proved a "Hater of Men"—NOT!

A nice, funny, well acted little picture, with a hero who might have been more interesting. But you're sure to enjoy Bessie Barriscale.

DISTRESSED: Fruits and vegetables and certain foods are the best laxatives. After eating a large meal, three pints of water will help. The water will not only help in the desired laxative effect, but it will keep the kidneys properly flushed. You cannot have good, clean, healthy looking skin and color unless there is a daily evacuation of the bowels. If the fruit, vegetables, or water has not the desired effect you must secure it by some medicinal laxative recommended by physician for you.

BESSIE BARRISCALE

She Makes You Feel Like Singing "Tunnin' Sing!" All Through Her Latest Picture, "Hater of Men."

By J. F. H. HEIDE.

SOW NOW: Green and wax pod beans, pole beans, green beans, midseason and late carrots. Swiss chard, early corn, summer endive, leaf, head lettuce, late peas, little radishes, New Zealand spinach, early and late kohlrabi.

TRANSPLANT NOW: Midseason and late red cabbage, Savoy cabbage, midseason and late cauliflower, self-blanching and green celery, summer endive, kohlrabi, head lettuce, and rutabagas.

New Zealand Spinach Culture.

Chicago has been slow to adopt desirable new forms of vegetables. New Zealand spinach has been a standard market vegetable in St. Louis for fifteen years, and its proven merit entitles it to consideration here. Mr. Koch has tried it out in the demonstration gardens of the West Chicago parks for two years and proven its adaptability even to the prevalent clayey soils though it is at its best in light soil. The prominent local head houses carry it.

In summer when spinach would run to flower stalks New Zealand spinach grows a desirable substitute. It is a downward growing form that has run to seed since the middle of the month, for it matures rapidly in cool weather. New Zealand spinach is a warm weather plant, not a spinach at all, though equally tender, similar in flavor, and used like it. It yields abundantly and may be harvested week after week till heavy frost. Only four or five inches of the top ends of the larger plants should be taken.

It is sown in the open between May 15 and June 30, in drills one-half inch deep, two to three seeds to the inch, twelve inches between rows, on the four foot bed of the back yard garden, eighteen inches to three feet for hand machine or horse cultivation on large lawns.

When three inches high it is thinned out so that the four inches between vigorous plants. It contracts a semi-creeping habit as it develops, and will gradually spread till cultivation is no longer possible; but the heads turn upward, and only those heads are cut off, as stated, whereupon it branches out again.

It is a drought resisting plant and requires no watering except after a two weeks' period of hot, dry weather. A heavy watering then will carry it through another week of drought. It should never be watered when the temperature is below 60 degrees F.

When the heads are cut off, the plant continues to grow and will produce a second crop.

When the second crop is harvested, the plant is cut off at the ground line, and the roots are washed and dried.

When the roots are washed and dried, they are cut into small pieces and dried in the sun.

Girls of North Shore Turning
to Stenography
BY CINDERELLA.

STENOGRAPHY'S the favorite study nowadays with the girls of the north shore. The 8:03 mornings from Lake Forest that used to take on all the men who now in the officer's reserve, is filled with many dameles who are trying to learn where they teach, how to use the newest method to play upon the typewriting machine as well. Typewriting's a good deal like piano playing, and once one learns the fingers all well, but it's another story with stenography. Then one takes dictation and writes down all sorts of fuzzy wuzzy little signs and things, and remembers afterwards what they all mean.

They say the more intellect one has the better it is to learn stenography. The pretty Clow girls, the pretty Paulines, Ermina Carr, Isabel Hobbs, and half a dozen others, are all having a try at it, with a view doubtless to being used later on when the readjustments begin—that is, when women have to take men's jobs, or do volunteer work in the big war relief.

Mr. Mark Cummings' lovely place on Lake Forest at Lake Forest will open today of a most wondrous picnic.

The little confectionery kiddies from Children's Memorial hospital under the social service committee will go out in a special car to the lovely country.

and anybody with imagination can see that they will love the wild flowers, the lovely lawn sloping to the lake, the glorious luncheon, and those adorably dressed ladies who look out for their welfare.

The committee is large, but a few of the most active members are Mrs. George H. Taylor, chairman; Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. A. Peabody, Mrs. William H. Martin, Mrs. H. H. Shearson, George McLaughlin, and Mrs. Jacob Waller.

The latter had a large luncheon on Monday at the Woman's Athletic club for the ladies who form the executive of the November White Elephant sale. Mrs. Bryan Lathrop and Mr. Spoor are away, but the rest remaining were Miss Martha Wilson, Mrs. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Frederick W. Updike, Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. Harry Stearns, and Mrs. Augustus K. Macmillan.

The gifts to the rummage sale are truly wonderfully numerous and wonderfully nice. And all these kindly millionaires who are due to move into new palaces this fall will kindly remember to send all their early Victorian furniture to Mrs. Edward F. Carry, Mrs. Bryan Lathrop, and Mr. Spoor, who will take place at the home of the bride to-morrow evening at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Arthur Rogers, rector of St. Mark's church, Evanston.

Miss Agnes Tuthill Ketcham, niece of the bride, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Sarah G. Richard, Mrs. Edward F. Carry, son of J. Spencer Dickerson, and his wife, Mrs. Helen Sherburne, of Boston, Mass.

Miss Hale, Sheridan of Boston, Sam Del Wells of Tulsa, Okla., will be maid of honor, and the groomsmen will be John J. Cleary of Oak Park and Stanley George Gordon of La Crosse, Wis.

The Misses Dorothy and Mary Elizabeth of Milwaukee and Master Thomas H. Sidney Jr. and Richard Hill Sidney of Evanston, nieces and nephews of the bride, will stretch the ribbons. The wedding will be followed by a reception.

The guests at the all day entertainment will be honored by the arrival of the station at Great Lakes tomorrow will be well taken care of, according to an announcement, as there is to be a special detail of blue-jackets who will look after them. The supper is to be served in the mess hall. Lieut. John Philip Sousa, U. S. N. R. F., who is in New York, has sent word that he will be on hand to lead the jingle band which will play for the entertainment of the other sailors on board quite complete. The proceeds will go to the fund of the Great Lakes auxiliary of the Navy Relief society.

A benefit card party will be given this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Hotel Sherman by the auxiliary of St. Anne's hospital for the hospital fund. Mrs. James T. Igoe is chairman of arrangements.

Miss Cyrus H. McCormick will give a luncheon on Thursday for Miss Martha McCook of New York, who is coming to Chicago to discuss Y. W. C. A. work among girls and women near the training camp. Mrs. McCormick will entertain at "Walden," her Lake Forest home.

That's one thing the war is doing in England, they say. Personal and war taxes are so high that ancestral portraits of the greatest antiquity and interest are being brought daily to the London marts. Sad, isn't it?

JUVENILE HOME CHANGES URGED AFTER INQUIRY

Social Workers' Report
Favors Placing Children
in Small Groups.

The Juvenile Detention home—that much discussed institution at 771 Gilpin place—is to have a final word today. The committee appointed by Peter Reinberg, which has since Feb. 20 been investigating conditions in the home, is now ready with recommendations.

The home is not to be abandoned. The alleviation of the overcrowded condition—there has always been a deluge of children in the Juvenile Detention home—is the plan.

Plan of the Committee.

To accomplish this the committee recommends:

The scattering of juveniles into small boarding homes and institutions for their proper care.

More dependent children kept out of the home in their own homes, awaiting their trials.

Cooperation with police sergeants every day at the home, who will dismiss children who should not be held pending their trials to their own homes.

No children held in the home for truancy.

Commitment of feeble minded children to the Psychopathic hospital, where the third floor should be given to mothers and children.

Children with venereal diseases needing hospital care to be sent to the county hospital for proper segregation.

The plan to take care of violent girls and boys who smash furniture in the home left to Judge Victor P. Arnold of the Juvenile court.

Small Groups Favored.

Every authority contends the holding of large numbers of children together is impractical, and that they can be kept free from contagious diseases in small groups. Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, head of the Social Service Bureau, found from a study of the system in Massachusetts, in England and Australia.

That the Juvenile Detention home should properly be kept an isolation hospital, where each child is alone for two weeks in quarantine for the protection of his future health, was recommended by experts on child's diseases, Dr. Frank Churchill and Dr. Abt to the committee.

Police have long considered the home a dumping ground for children under 12 years picked up on the streets. The police might as well escort these children to their own homes for the night.

A detailed study of the records of 400 cases, 345 of which were taken from the records of children detained in the home during the month of January, 1916, and 150 detained during May, 1917, was made. During January, 1916, the average length of the detained was 11.2 days for each child.

The complaints against the home were in many cases due to the belief prevalent that it is a permanent home, whereas it is only a temporary home. The criticism that the children are unprovided with toys was unfounded, according to Henry Zender of the county social service bureau.

"There is, perhaps, $300 allowed for toys at Christmas for the children," said Mr. Zender of the social service bureau of Cook county.

Widow of Underworld Leader Kills Herself

Harry London's widow killed herself in her home at 1510 South Clifton Park avenue yesterday.

Mrs. London, who had been living under her maiden name of Jeanette Gutter, had been despondent ever since her husband, notorious as a vice lord and saloonkeeper in the Desplaines street police district, died in the State hospital for the insane at Elgin, last December.

While the members of her family were out, Mrs. London locked herself in the bathroom and turned on the gas. Jacob Gutter, her father, discovered the suicide.
